Armed Forces

Army Pvt. C. Warren Lauterbeck, whose wife, Carol, lives at 820 Amapola Ave., recently participated with other personnel from the 9th Infantry's Company E in Exercise Snow Trail in Alaska.

The three-week exercise, part of a training program designed to improve the efficiency of infantry units under extreme weather conditions, consisted of a two hundred mile trek through the Alaskan wilderness. During the trek the men carried the equipment necessary for the unit to operate without support.

Lauterbeck, a rifleman in the company, which is regularly located at Fort Wainwright, Alaska, entered the Army last September and was last stationed at Fort Ord.

A 1954 graduate of San Pedro High School, the 24-year-old soldier attended Harbor College in Wilmington and was employed as a representative for the Pacific Telephone Co. before entering the Army. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lauterbeck, live at 21120 Dalton Ave., Torrance.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

Marine Pvt. Royce E. Ingram, son of Mrs. Virginia S. Ingram of 1551 W. 215th St., completed recruit training, March 14, at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

The 11-week course included instruction in all basic military subjects and infantry weapons.
